At the peak of his life St. Paul knew only one passion: God and souls. Some of this passion has also been given to me.

Fr. Joseph Kentenich

The International Schoenstatt Movement is celebrating the 100th anniversary of their founder's day of ordination. This takes place during the official year of priests called out by the Church.

His priestliness was not just unusually fruitful but enhances the main challenges contained in the mission of a priests and the people of God, namely to be a bridge between God and the world, in community with all who are called to bear witness to their Christian faith. Father Joseph Kentenich – a priest for today.

The Schoenstatt Movement invites you all, friends, and representatives of the Church and society to the main celebration of this jubilee on June 20th 2010.
